

High 20 Dividend Strategy Trust

Series 5

A 2 Year Unit Investment Trust

Investment Objective

The Trust seeks to maximize total return potential through capital appreciation and current dividend income. There is no guarantee that the investment objective of the Trust will be achieved.

Investment Strategy

The High 20 Dividend Strategy applies both growth and value screens across four S&P indices to identify stocks with a combination of attractive dividend yield and positive performance characteristics. Two features differentiate this strategy:

- The High 20 Dividend Strategy selects from four diverse indices which include large, mid and small capitalization companies of 1,500 U.S. equities and the ADR's of over 150 international companies.
- Before ranking the companies by dividend yield, the indices are screened so that only companies that have outperformed their index for the past 1, 3 and 5 year periods are considered.

¹Distributions, if any, will be made commencing on August 25, 2013. The estimated net annual distribution is expected to decline over time because a portion of the securities included in the portfolio will be sold to pay for organization costs, creation and development fee and deferred sales charge. Distributions will fluctuate as a result of Unitholder redemptions in addition to securities being sold within the portfolio. Distributions are also subject to the ability of issuers to make dividend payments in the future.

Risk Considerations

Unitholders can lose money by investing in this Trust. The value of the Units and the Securities included in the portfolio can each decline in value. An investment in units of the Trust should be made with an understanding of the following risks:

- Since the portfolio of the Trust is unmanaged, in general the Sponsor can only sell securities under certain extraordinary circumstances, at the Trust's termination or in order to meet redemptions. As a result, the price at which each security is sold may not be the highest price it attained during the life of the Trust.
- The risk that the financial condition of the issuers of the common stocks in the Trust may become impaired or that the general condition of the stock market may worsen (both of which may contribute directly to a decrease in the value of the Securities and thus in the value of the Units).
- The Trust is considered to be concentrated in securities issued by companies in the utilities industry and the financial services industry, such as banks, insurance companies and investment firms. Negative developments in these industries will affect the value of your investment more than would be the case in a more diversified investment.
- Securities of foreign companies held by the Trust present risks beyond those of U.S. issuers. These risks may include market and political factors related to the company's foreign market, international trade conditions, less regulation, smaller or less liquid markets, increased volatility, differing accounting practices and changes in the value of foreign currencies.
- The Trust may invest in companies with smaller market capitalizations, which may have less liquid stock and more volatile prices than larger capitalized companies. Such companies also tend to have unproven track records and, to a certain extent, are more likely to perform less well or fail than companies with larger market capitalizations.
- There is no assurance that any dividends will be declared or paid in the future on the Securities.
- The sponsor may offer successive Trusts with similar portfolios thereby allowing the investor to pursue the same strategy over a number of years. Investors should consider their ability to pursue investing in successive Trusts, if available. There may be tax consequences associated with investing in the Trust and rolling over an investment from one Trust to the next.
