

NASDAQ International Dividend Achievers Index Trust

Series 4

A 2 Year Unit Investment Trust

Investment Objective

The Trust seeks current dividend income, with the potential for capital appreciation as a secondary objective. There is no guarantee that the investment objective of the Trust will be achieved.

Investment Strategy

The Trust seeks to pursue its objective by investing in a portfolio consisting of the publicly traded foreign securities comprising the NASDAQ International Dividend Achievers Index (the "Index") as of January 7, 2015 (the "Security Selection Date"). The Index is described in greater detail under DESCRIPTION OF INDEX below.

The Sponsor sought to replicate the composition of the Index as of the Security Selection Date. During the Trust's life, the Trust will not change to reflect any change in the component securities of the Index or any change in the weighting of the components within the Index at the time(s) that the Index is reconstituted or reweighted. If the Sponsor creates additional Units of the Trust after the Trust's inception date, the Trust will purchase the securities originally selected by applying the strategy. This is true even if a later application of the strategy would have resulted in the selection of different securities. Under normal market conditions, at least 80% of the Trust's net assets will be invested in foreign securities that pay dividends as of the time of portfolio selection. The Trust may hold securities of companies located in emerging markets and/or may invest in companies with smaller market capitalizations. As used herein, the term "Securities" means the shares of the securities initially deposited in the Trust and contracts and funds for the purchase of such securities, and any additional securities acquired and held by the Trust pursuant to the provisions of the Trust Agreement.

The Trust will not change to reflect any of the changes to the Index during the life of the Trust. If the Sponsor creates additional Units of the Trust after the Trust's inception date, the Trust will purchase the securities originally selected by applying the strategy. This is true even if a later application of the strategy would have resulted in the selection of different securities.

Description of Index

The objective of the Index is to track the performance of certain foreign securities with at least five consecutive years of increasing regular dividend payments. The security types eligible for the Index include American Depositary Receipts ("ADRs"), Global Depositary Receipts ("GDRs"), limited partnership interests, ordinary shares and shares of limited liability companies.

INDEX ELIGIBILITY. To be eligible for inclusion in the Index, a security must meet the following criteria:

- It must be listed on one of the three major exchanges – The NASDAQ Stock Market[®], the New York Stock Exchange, or NYSE MKT;
- The issuer of the security must be incorporated outside of the United States;
- The security must have a minimum three-month average daily dollar trading volume of $1 million;
- The security must have at least five consecutive years of increasing annual regular dividends based on ex-date;
- One security per issuer is permitted. If an issuer has multiple securities, the security with the highest three-month average daily dollar trading volume will be selected for possible inclusion into the Index;
- The issuer of the security may not have entered into a definitive agreement or other arrangement which would likely result in the security no longer being Index eligible;
- The security may not be issued by an issuer currently in bankruptcy proceedings; and
- A GDR must be listed on the London Stock Exchange or London International Exchange and have a US listing on the OTC Bulletin Board, pink sheets or nonbulletin board and meet the additional eligibility criteria other than listing market.

Description of Portfolio

The portfolio contains 67 issues of publicly traded equity securities of foreign companies, limited partnerships and/or limited liability companies. Based upon the principal business of each issuer and current market values, the following industries are represented by the equity securities of the companies in the portfolio: consumer products and services, energy, financials, health care, industrials, information technology, materials, telecommunication services, and utilities.

¹Distributions, if any, will be made commencing on February 25, 2015. The estimated net annual distribution is expected to decline over time because a portion of the securities included in the portfolio will be sold to pay for organization costs, creation and development fee and deferred sales charge. Distributions will fluctuate as a result of Unitholder redemptions in addition to securities being sold within the portfolio. Distributions are also subject to the ability of issuers to make dividend payments in the future.

²Estimated Net Annual First Year Distribution per Unit is computed by dividing the estimated annual income of the underlying securities less the expense per unit by the number of units outstanding. The estimated net annual distributions for subsequent years are expected to be less than estimated distributions for the first year because a portion of the securities included in the Trust portfolio will be sold during the first year to pay for organization costs, the creation and development fee and the deferred sales charge. The actual net annual distributions will vary with changes in the Trust's fees and expenses and income of the underlying securities.

Risk Considerations

Unitholders can lose money by investing in this Trust. The value of the Units and the Securities included in the portfolio can each decline in value. An investment in units of the Trust should be made with an understanding of the following risks:

- Since the portfolio of the Trust is unmanaged, in general the Sponsor can only sell securities under certain extraordinary circumstances, at the Trust's termination or in order to meet redemptions. As a result, the price at which each security is sold may not be the highest price it attained during the life of the Trust.
- Price fluctuations of particular Securities will change the portfolio's composition throughout the life of the Trust. When cash or a letter of credit is deposited with instructions to purchase Securities in order to create additional Units, an increase in the price of a particular Security between the time of deposit and the time that Securities are purchased will cause the Units to be comprised of less of that Security and more of the remaining Securities. In addition, brokerage fees incurred in purchasing the Securities will be an expense of the Trust and such fees will dilute the existing Unitholders' interests.
- The risk that the financial condition of the issuers of the equity securities in the Trust may become impaired or that the general condition of the stock market may worsen (both of which may contribute directly to a decrease in the value of the Securities and thus in the value of the Units).
- The Trust's performance is not intended to correspond with that of the Index. This can happen for reasons such as an inability to replicate the weighting of each stock, the timing of Index rebalancings, Index tracking errors, round lot trading requirements, regulatory restrictions, the time that elapses between an Index change and a change in the Trust, and Trust expenses.
- Securities of foreign companies and/or companies located in "emerging markets" held by the Trust present risks beyond those of U.S. issuers. These risks may include market and political factors related to the company's foreign market, international trade conditions, less regulation, smaller or less liquid markets, increased volatility, differing accounting practices and changes in the value of foreign currencies. The risks of investing in developing or emerging countries may be even greater than the risks associated with foreign investments in general.
- The Trust may invest in companies with smaller market capitalizations, which may have less liquid stock and more volatile prices than larger capitalized companies. Such companies also tend to have unproven track records and, to a certain extent, are more likely to perform less well or fail than companies with larger market capitalizations.
- There is no assurance that any dividends will be declared or paid in the future on the Securities. Dividends are paid only when declared by an issuer and the amount of any dividend may vary over time.
- The sponsor may offer successive Trusts with similar portfolios thereby allowing the investor to pursue the same strategy over a number of years. Investors should consider their ability to pursue investing in successive Trusts, if available. There may be tax consequences associated with investing in the Trust and rolling over an investment from one Trust to the next.
